

Tired of the same old rules . . . give this a try.

Kerscrabblories

A Board Game Mash-Up by Stef & Scott

This game requires:

Kerplunk by Mattel

Scrabble by Hasbro

Scattergories by Hasbro

Rules

- Set up KerPlunk cylinder. Add scrabble tiles on top of sticks instead of using marbles.
- Begin play in clockwise order by pulling sticks from kerplunk cylinder. Once a tile or tiles fall fill in scattergories categories by using words that contain the letter/letters that have fallen. ALL PLAYERS FILL OUT SCATTERGORIES CATEGORIES during the time limit given from the timer.
- For example: if a K falls and your category is television stars, you may play Snooki for 5 points (because the letter K is worth 5 points, points are listed on the tile themselves.) Or you may play Kelly Ripa for double points, since it starts with the letter K.
- If multiple letters fall, attempt to use all letters adding up points from all letter tiles that fall. First tile still gives you double points, using all other letter tiles that fall in the same word adds the number of points found on that specific tile.
- For example: if a C and A both fall and your category is School Subjects, you may play the word Calculus for 10 points, C = 3 points and A = 1 point. C is worth 9 because the word starts with C and there is another c in the word as well. A is worth only one because you successfully used it within the same word.
- If you are not able to use all letters that drop, subtract the number of points found on the letter tile that you were not able to use from the total number of points gained from that specific word.
- For example: If a K and O fall and your category is Things in a park, and you can only think of the word Kite. K = 5 points and O=1 point. Therefore you get a total of 9 points because the word starts with K so its double points, for a total of 10 points. Since the word did not include the letter O you subtract 1 point from the total word value, which ends up being 9 points in the end.